

Activation Guidance IGtHPile V 3.0

For activating IGtHPile on your computer, please execute the following steps:

1. Read the License Agreement enclosed to the program. Insert your institution, address and name. Sign the License Agreement in the last dotted line to assent with the content of the license agreement.
2. Create a file folder called "IGtHPile" in folder: "C:\Programs" on your computer.
3. Copy the file IGtHPile.exe into the IGtHPile folder created before.
4. Start the program by a double click.
5. Find the PIN-CODE to be inserted in the License Agreement from the window opening:

6. Send the completely filled License Agreement by mail to the following address igthpile@igth.uni-hannover.de to receive the activation code.
7. Fill in the activation code in the window and click OK to start the program. Close the program and create a shortcut of "IGtHPile.exe". Move this shortcut to the file folder you want to use for the calculations.
8. For using the program, please see the document "Calculation Examples"

Note: The Institute for Geotechnical Engineering (IGtH) expressly reserves to refuse any request for the activation code without giving any reasons. The activation code is only valid for one user and one computer. The location of the original IGtHPile.exe file may not be changed afterwards as this will influence the validity of the activation code.
